

# Introduction to Machine Learning

Machine learning is a field of computer science that gives computers the ability to learn without being explicitly programmed.

# Supervised Learning

In supervised learning, the machine is taught using labeled data.

# Unsupervised Learning

Unsupervised learning involves learning patterns from unlabeled data.